

Confidence and care impress interviewers

PATIENCE and an association with Nova Employment at Rouse Hill paid off for Jamie Whitworth.

The former candidate started full-time work at a Dural childcare centre five weeks ago and likes the work a lot.

"Everybody is pretty friendly here so it helps getting to work somewhere where everybody is so nice," she said.

"It's a full-on job but it's worth it at the end of the day."

Ms Whitworth is responsible for caring for the children aged three and four, and providing an educational aspect to their time at the centre as well as the general clean-up duties that come with the role.

She said her favourite part of the job is "just working with the little kids, and if they learn something at the end of the day that's really good".

Wakefield Children's Early Learning Centre director Kelly MacLaren said when Nova approached the centre about employing Jamie they saw she would be a good fit for the role.

"She charmed us with her interview," she said.

"She came across as a very caring and nurturing person which is important in a childcare environment."

"If someone presented with the same confidence and drive that Jamie has shown in the past couple of weeks we would definitely go down that road again."

Terri

Terri is a mature woman seeking part-time employment in a childcare centre as a diploma teacher or an office assistant. With a bubbly personality, positive attitude and love of children, she would be an asset to any childcare centre or school office.

Qualities, skills and qualifications:
 A Certificate II in Business Administration;
 A can-do attitude.

Denisse

Denisse is a lovely woman with a strong desire to work, and has had 13 years working as a clerical assistant with the same employer. She likes to work with people and can help with administration or in the warehouse if required.

Qualities, skills and qualifications:
 13 years' experience as a clerical assistant;
 Administration and people skills.

Heather

Heather has a genuine interest in flowers and would like the opportunity to work with a florist who will teach her all she needs to know. Heather has enrolled in a TAFE floristry course for 2012. She tends her own roses and is keen to learn how to create floral arrangements.

Qualities, skills and qualifications:
 Enrolled in a floristry course at TAFE;
 Keenly interested in flowers.
